

Shadows on the Hudson, Volume 2

Set in New York City, this second in a four volume audiobook series, draws listeners into the intertwined lives of a circle of prosperous Jewish refugees. At the center is Boris Makaver, a pious and wealthy business man. His greatest trial is his daughter, Anna, whose unhappiness in her current marriage has her planning an escape with another man. From Makaver's gloomy Upper West Side apartment to the pastel resorts of Miami--amid family quarrels, zealous religious debates, crooked seances, and a myriad of affairs and marriages--Singer weaves a rich tapestry of American Jewry.
